

CARPENTER'S RESOLUTION.

Senator Matt. Carpenter offered a resolution in the United States Senate on Thursday which should be adopted at once. It declares that "resumption, the circulation of gold, silver and greenbacks as lawful money, and the expectation that the finances would not be disturbed by precipitate legislation had been followed by revived industry and general prosperity; that successful conduct of business depended on a stable financial policy, and that, therefore, in the opinion of the Senate, any legislation during the present session materially changing the existing system of finance would be inexpedient." This is the spirit in which to treat the financial question. There should be no change in the system of finance. The business of the country does not demand any material change in the currency. It is good enough, and should be allowed to remain as it is now regardless of the theories or the suggestions of the President.

There is nothing in the United States that can do business and the country more harm than Congress. An attempt to tinker the currency or make it in any manner uncertain, will create distrust in financial circles, and then all business will be more or less affected. There is a number of reckless, visionary, and impracticable men in Congress, and these are the ones who think their mission is to "reform" the currency. These schemes are the products of the brain of fools. They have no settled policy, and don't know enough to adopt one. They are, for most of them, political adventurers, and financially are broken down, and therefore they want cheap money, and plenty of it, and want it without giving value received.

It is to be hoped that the majority in Congress will show their good sense by refusing to disturb the present settled condition of the finances, and that the Senate will seal the fate of any unwise financial legislation by adopting the timely resolution offered by Senator Carpenter.

SHALL IT BE ABOLISHED?

For two or three years past attempts have been made by various persons and newspapers to create a prejudice against the State Board of Charities and Reform, with a view of arousing public sentiment in opposition to the Board which would finally lead to its breaking up. Time after time the press has taken up the question and has demanded that the Board be abolished. The Chicago Tribune of last Saturday, made a moderate attack against the Board of Charities, and in the brief articles it asked, "What good end is subserved by the existence of the present or any other Board of Charities and Reform? And also, 'What reforms has it inaugurated, and where does the charity come in?' To be sure, these are stunning questions for the public, and they would perhaps puzzle the Board itself. The State Board of Charities was created a few years ago, for a good purpose, it was supposed. Since then the members have travelled around considerably, have examined the various State institutions, have made elaborate reports, and have thrown out many suggestions, but whether the Board has accomplished any substantial good, the people must be the judges. The sentiment generally prevails that in an organized capacity, it has done no service to the State, and therefore should not be allowed to exist.

Viewing the subject from a common sense point of view, and acting in obedience to the demands of public interest, the Legislature would probably abolish the Board. The fact is apparent that so far it has not inaugurated any reforms worth speaking about. It has done some "investigating," and is doing some now, but whether the public has had value received for the money expended on the Board, is a matter for members of the Legislature to settle. The annual reports of the Board are important documents in some respects, and in many instances are found quite useful. But aside from this it would be difficult to state wherein the Board of Charities is, on the whole, worth what it costs. This question has been raised before, and it is raised again, and an effort will more than likely be made to pass a bill abolishing it altogether. For the fiscal year ending September 30th, 1879, the Board cost the State for traveling expenses and so on, $2,549 and for printing reports, $410, making a total of $2,959. The expenses of maintaining the Board are not heavy, but that is not a point which enters into the question. No matter whether the cost is $100 or $5,000, the Board should not exist unless it is of some special benefit to the State.

It is the business of the members of the Legislature to inquire into this matter, to ascertain, if possible, what good the Board has done—a detailed statement will be interesting—and whether there is a field for its operations. A question of this kind should not be neglected, and there should be no hesitation to abolish the Board on account of political friends, it is of no service to the State. The members of the Board are excellent men, but this should not spare them if they can render the State no good service in an organized capacity. The public will expect the Legislature to take some action on the question this winter.

OFFICIAL PIE.

Democratic Senators in a Wrangle Over the Spoils of Office.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Senate Democrats are in a wrangle over the spoils of office, and we have before us to-day the spectacle of a formal committee of Democratic statesmen, headed by a candidate for the Presidency, and including a number of able constitutional leaders, seated around a table in the Judiciary Committee Room scanning the list of employees in the Senate to discover whether Dan Voorhees has got more of his strikers in office than Eaton, of Connecticut. In cutting official pie, the Sergeant-at-Arms and Secretary are accused of giving larger pieces to some Senators than to others, and the Senators who get the small pieces are crying about it. It is well that history should have the names of the pie-inspectors. They are Thurman, Wayne, Bailey, Vance, Kernan, Salisbury, Lusk, Voorhees, and Jones, of Florida, and so important is the matter, that as soon as the pieces are measured, this committee will report to a caucus of the Senate of the United States, and if Dan Voorhees is found to have more pie than Eaton, Dan will have to give Eaton a part of his piece, and the other boys that didn't get a fair show shall be compensated. But, there is a very big question that the boys who got the biggest pieces are all on the committee.

THE CURRENCY.

Caucus of Republican Senators to Consider the Financial Question.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The Republican Senators consider the financial situation so serious that they have, in caucus, appointed a committee, consisting of Morrill, Conkling, Hamlin, McMillan, Booth, Kirkwood, Cameron, of Pennsylvania, Logan and Carpenter, to take into consideration what position the Republicans in Congress should assume on finance. This committee met to-day and had an extended discussion, but came to no agreement. It was developed, however, that but two of the committee entertain the same opinion as the President, and that but one, Senator Morrill, is of the opinion that legislation on the finances is advisable at present. He wants Sherman's recommendations adopted at once.

POLITICAL MURDER.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 4.—A desperate and fatal fight occurred in Jonesboro, 20 miles from Atlanta, last night. Matt Walker and George Mansfield, prominent citizens, were running for Mayor, and both making efforts to secure negro votes. The canvass was so bitter that difficulty had long been anticipated. Last night Mansfield gave the negroes a supper, and, while they were engaged in his case, Walker and one of his supporters cried: "Halt!" Walker cried, "Three cheers for my ticket!" Mansfield replied, "Three cheers for my ticket." Walker said, "D—n your ticket." Both men rushed for each other, and joined in a desperate struggle. Mansfield seized a stick and dealt Walker a fearful blow on the head. Groaning, he fell on the floor, and drawing a pistol, fired. The ball entered Mansfield's forehead, and he fell dead. Great confusion ensued. The town was in the wildest confusion, and fears of a general fight were entertained. Walker gave himself up, and quiet was restored, though the feeling continued bitter. Walker is suffering severely from the injuries received in the fight. Such a bitter feeling exists that it may at any time break out in another tragedy. The town is divided into two factions, which heartily hate each other.

THE CENSUS LAW.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Representative Herbert, of Alabama, has introduced a bill suggesting an amendment to the census law. It is intended as a preventative of fraud in enumeration of the population, and provides that enumerators, after having taken the census, shall place the list of names upon records, alphabetically arranged, in some conspicuous place in the district, where it will be accessible to all; and provides for an opportunity for persons who have complaints of omission or addition to submit correction. Superintendent Walker is understood to object to the suggestion, because of the additional expense involved.

DEATH OF COURSE.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 4.—A Mrs. Andrews last evening started a fire with kerosene, and then carelessly placed the can upon the stove. The heat soon melted the bottom of the can, the oil ignited, and an explosion occurred, covering the poor woman from head to foot with the burning oil. By the time assistance arrived, nearly all of the clothing on her person was destroyed. Her injuries were of such a serious nature that death resulted to-day. Mrs. Andrews was 24 years of age, and leaves a husband and one child—the latter only three months old. The family residence is at No. 701 Maple street, South side.

KILLED HIS FATHER.

TOMAH, Dec. 4.—A horrible paricide was committed near the village of Oakdale, a small town about five miles east of this place, yesterday morning, in which an old man named Michael Kuhn was literally hacked to pieces by his son Henry, about twenty years of age. It seems that Henry and his father had been having trouble about some money left by the old man's wife, and last Monday Kuhn found poison in his coffee. Having drunk some of it, he immediately took an emetic, and survived it. Yesterday he sent his youngest son, about twelve years old, to the village on an errand, and when the boy returned he found his father dead. The oldest boy was there, and he claimed that his father was killed by falling off a scaffold in the barn and striking on a wagon-tongue. The neighbors suspected that foul play had been done, and called a justice and had a jury impaneled. Upon searching the premises an ax was found covered with blood, and an attempt had been made to wipe the blood off by rubbing it on the dirt. Upon examination of the body, sixteen distinct cuts were found in the skull, the bridge of the nose and jaw bone broken, the left arm broken in two places, and the shoulder dislocated as though the blow had driven the arm bone into the shoulder.

MISSIONARY WORK.

New York, Dec. 4.—Complaints are published against the policy of the Methodist Episcopal church with regard to missionary work among the Indians. It is shown that of the $60,000 annually appropriated by the Methodist Missionary Society, only about $3,500, taking the present year as an example, goes toward missionary work among the American Indians, and that of this small amount only the pitiful sum of $700 is set apart for use among the Indians of the far West. Methodists are the complainants and they consider the apparent neglect more remarkable, because under the plan adopted during President Grant's administration the Methodist church controls the nomination of agents to fourteen out of sixty-eight agencies of more than one-fifth of the whole number.

MORE ABOUT GRANT.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 4.—General Grant has determined not to come to this city until after his return from Mexico next spring. It is, therefore, proposed that his friends in Congress go to Philadelphia, where he is to be received with high honors. Congress will be asked to adjourn over for this purpose, and railroad facilities will be procured through the agency of Senator Dan Cameron, who has arranged the proposed excursion. Post No. 1 of the Grand Army of the Republic, here, will go to Philadelphia to greet their old commander, and the Washington Light Infantry may also go.

PREFERS GRANT.

AGUSTA, Dec. 4.—In answer to recent publications, A. H. Stephens telegraphs to this city as follows: "In relation to Grant and the next Presidency, I have said and now repeat that the South might go further and fare worse than to take him. I have said, and now repeat, that I prefer him to Tilden for President. This is no change of opinion on my part. I am a Democrat of the strictest sect of the Jeffersonian school."

Twenty Years Ago.

From the New York Times, Dec. 2. Just twenty years ago this day (Tuesday, December 2) old John Brown, of Ossawatimie, was hanged at Charlestown, Virginia, after trial and conviction for invading that State—with twenty men—for the purpose of liberating slaves. His execution was unquestionably one of the most memorable executions that have occurred in history. It produced a profound impression throughout this country and Europe, and did much to make John Brown one of the foremost figures of the Western world. He was the sixth in descent from Peter Brown, a carpenter and a Puritan, one of the sturdy band that reached Plymouth on the Mayflower. Born at Torrington, Connecticut, in 1800, his father removed to Ohio when he was a child, and from 18 to 20 he worked there as a tanner and currier. He was made an Abolitionist and led to declare eternal war against slavery, when a mere lad, by seeing the abuse heaped upon a negro boy, a slave, of his own age, by a man whose hospitality he was sharing. He conceived, as early as 1830, the plan of freeing the Southern slaves, and he never rested until he had undertaken the rash expedition which resulted in his death. He became generally known in 1856 by the active part he played in Kansas against the Border Ruffians, as the pro-slavery Missourians were then designated. His abolitionism was intensified by the killing of his son Frederick by Rev. Martin White, who led the pro-slavery party, and who, after boasting of his deed in the Lecompton Legislature, was found dead on the prairie with a bullet through his heart. Nothing could have been more foolhardy than Brown's "invasion" of Virginia with a handful of men, but with twenty followers he seized Harper's Ferry, and took forty prisoners. Attacked by a large body of State militia, he was captured only after

Australis; and no reason is advanced by Mr. Froude why the Catholic Church of America should have stood still or gone

backwards, while it has been advancing with such giant strides. If there are 12,000,000 Catholics in the United States

at the end of the century, there will be a population of over 50,000,000 Protestants;

and the Catholics will continue to be in such a hopeless minority that their own interests, then as now, will compel them

to exercise every care, and they unduly exaggerate the Protestant antagonism, which they can never encounter without disaster.

Even if there is a true basis for a

Mr. Froude's figures, the same basis exists in his own country, which he seems to regard as entirely exempt from the ultimate control of the Ultramontanes.

The population of the United Kingdom by the last census was 31,628,233, and the same census showed nearly six millions and a half of Catholics among this population—

a much larger proportion than exists in the United States. This country, with its universal toleration and its freedom from the anathemas of an established church, will have no difficulty in taking good care of its Catholic population, if England can take care of hers. The cry of Jacobite, which has so often driven England into frenzies of alarm, has no terrors to a land where all are permitted to worship

at their own altars, and the religious test-oaths have not been known since

English dominion disappeared from the colonies.

General Hooker and the Michigan Man.

The following story is told by the Cincinnati Enquirer. It does not in the least detract from the accolade to know that exactly the same yarn went the rounds a year ago with the Duke of Wellington in General Hooker's place. Still, the story is all right excepting the trivial fact that the darter was an Ohio man, and he was recently elected to an honorable position in the State. Here is the story:

I served on General Hooker's staff for nearly a year, and on one occasion was assigned to duty as judge advocate of a general court martial before which a private soldier of a Michigan regiment was brought, charged with desertion.

The evidence showed that the prisoner had deserted three times on the last occasion "in the face of the enemy." The court martial sentenced him to be shot,

and the record of his trial and conviction

was forwarded to General Hooker for his approval. A short time subsequently

General Hooker came to my quarters,

which adjoined his own, and said:

"Bond, in this case against Private

"what do you think had better be done?

Are there no extenuating circumstances?"

"None that I know of, General. He has deserted three times."

"I don't know anything in the case upon which you could base a recommendation

of mercy?"

"Not a thing. The proof against him

was positive and not denied, and the witnesses say further that when he was with his regiment he was a worthless fellow and a constant trouble to his officers."

"That's just the thing," said the General positively. "The man is constitutionally a coward, and you recommended

him to mercy on the ground. I'll tell you what's the matter. Bond—his mother is at my quarters begging for her son's life, and I want to spare him."

In accordance with his suggestion the recommendation for leniency was written,

and a few minutes thereafter a feeble old lady with silver gray hair and a tearful

face was bowed out of the General's door

by the brave old hero, and turning away

she exclaimed, with uplifted hands: "God bless you General Hooker."

Useful Bees.

There are few persons who have any idea of the immense agricultural and horticultural service rendered by bees, but a calculation just made by Rev. M. Sauppe,

a great bee master of Zuckendorf, Saxony,

goes far to prove the utility and importance of bee culture. His calculation is that out of each of the 17,000 bees fly per day—

equal to 170,000,000—each bee four times

equal to 680,000,000 of flights, or in 100 days equal to 680,000,000,000. Each bee

before flying home would visit fifty flowers,

therefore the whole community has visited

no less than 34,000,000,000,000 of flowers.

If out of tea only one flower become fertilized, 340,000,000 of fertilized flowers

would be the result. Supposing the value of the fertilization of 5,000 flowers to be only a German pfennig (one-tenth of a penny), the united bees of Saxony have earned per annum the sum of 68,000,000

pfennings—680,000 marks or about $170,

000. Thus each hive is calculated to do a national service to the value of $10 per annum, and this they do while paying more than the expenses of their keeping by the honey they gather. Upon these figures M. Sauppe recommends that more bees should be reared and kept in Saxony,

but his recommendation will do for this country as well.—Boston Commercial Bul-

Bringing the Dead to Life.

From the Carol, Ill. Argus.

Mrs. V. J. Yost, of Metropolis, passed through the city last evening, on her way home from Hot Springs, where she had been stopping for her health. Several days since Mrs. Yost received a dispatch from Hot Springs saying her husband was dead. She hastened to Cairo, sorely stricken with sorrow, expecting to receive his body here. Here she received a dispatch saying her husband was not dead. This different dispatch confused her, and she has insisted on the way to the Springs to find out his situation for her.

There the contradictory telegrams were explained to her. To all appearances her husband was dead, and he was laid out as a dead person. But after the lapse of several hours, it was discovered that the body did not grow cold as it should. A consultation of physicians was held, there being nine in council. The majority insisted that Mr. Yost was dead; but one, a

Dr. Reed, insisted that he was not dead.

In deference to his opinion, two galvanic batteries were applied to his body, and immediately he began to show signs of life. Bringing the dead back to conscious life was a slow process, but eventually accomplished, and

Mr. Yost has been gaining ever since, until he is now able to partake of a fair meal,

converse, write, etc., and he appears to have a better prospect for recovering his health than he has had for some months.

This is one of the marvelous cases we occasionally read of, but is seldom brought home to the knowledge of one with whom they are acquainted.

BRIEFLETS.

—No dust.
—Quiet in police courts.
—The Temple of Honor meet to-night.
—The Court opened again this afternoon.
—Peoples Lodge I. O. G. T. hold a regular meeting this evening.
—The Ancient Order of United Workmen unite in work to-night.
—Mrs. W. W. Clarke, of Milton, has been visiting the Misses Prichard for a few days.
—The stockholders of the Rock County Agricultural Society meet to-morrow afternoon, at two o'clock.
—The African M. E. Zion church is to have the benefit of a collection in Court street church next Sunday.
—Mrs. Noon's pupils will meet for class drill on each Friday night, until further notice. See advertisement in another column.
—Ed. Smith housed three wanderers last night, who claimed to be out of money, away from friends, and hunting for work.
—Rev. Dr. Huntley is to occupy the pulpit at the First Methodist church next Sunday morning and evening, and will speak in behalf of Lawrence University of which he is President.
—The goose war has broken out afresh in the second ward. Mrs. Larkin has complained of Anne Waller again, for abusive talk, and Justice Prichard is to take up the matter next Tuesday.
—W. T. Oakley was yesterday arrested by Constable Taylor on the charge of stealing a harness from Patrick Shields, at whose place Oakley had been husking corn. Justice Wickham has the case, and will take it up next Tuesday.
—To-morrow afternoon and evening Rev. H. Sewell and wife are to keep open house, and receive their friends in celebration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. No special invitations are issued, all friends being invited to come and go at such hours as may prove most convenient, somewhat on the New Year's calling plan.
—At the monthly meeting of the Janesville Guards last evening, George W. Peck was elected an honorary life member of the company. Some changes were made in the position of the non-commissioned officers. Sergeant E. V. Whitton, at his own request, was reduced to the ranks. First Corporal George H. Woodruff was promoted to Fifth Sergeant. Private William Evenson was made Eighth Corporal. Sergeants Bintliff and Judd were promoted to Third and Fourth Sergeants, and the Corporals were promoted in the same ratio. The following were chosen to serve as a Court Martial during the coming year: Lieutenant M. A. Newman, Sergeant J. B. Doe, Jr., and Privates Orrin Bemis, S. H. Hudson, and F. D. Jackson.
—The parsons innocently made themselves the victims of a joke on Thanksgiving day. Mr. Noyes, of the St. Paul road, desired the several pastors of the city churches, to call at his office and sign some blanks, necessary to the receipt of their annual half-rate ticket, and in order to notify them sent to each a postal, such as he has printed for notifying persons that there is freight at the depot, and to call at the office. These postals reached the preachers on Thanksgiving day morning, and though their time was well occupied by church services and steaming dinners they hastened to get, what each thought must be some box of Thanksgiving goodies sent by some kind friend or ardent admirer. Two or three sent draymen to get whatever was for them, and had the satisfaction of having to pay the cartman's fee for nothing. One sent a man with a wheelbarrow. Another came himself with a friend's grocery wagon. All but two reported promptly that very day, and came prepared to take away on wheels whatever was needed. They looked somewhat crestfallen when one by one they discovered they had no use for trucks, or teams or wheelbarrows.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVENSON, DRUGGISTS.

The thermometer at 6 o'clock last night stood at 45 degrees above; at 1 o'clock a m. to-day at 46 degrees above; at 7 o'clock a m. at 50 degrees above, and at 1 o'clock p. m. at 51 degrees above. Drizzling rain.

One year ago to-day at 7 o'clock a m. the thermometer stood at 27 degrees above, and at 2 o'clock p. m. at 38 degrees above.

The indications to-day are, for the Tennessee and Ohio valleys, and lake region, falling, and low barometer, increasing south to east winds, probably to gales in the last district, warmer threatening and rainy weather, partly as snow in the northern portion of the last district, followed over the upper lakes and western portion of the first district by rising barometer and cold northerly winds.

HAPPILY SURPRISED.

Last evening Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Kenyon were happily surprised by being called on at their home by about forty friends, the company being composed of members of the Odd Fellows lodge, and the Daughters of Rebecca. The evening was given over to sociability, and one specially pleasant incident was the presentation of an elegant gold ring to Mrs. Kenyon, as indication of the esteem in which she is held by her sisters of the order of which she is a member. Abundant refreshments were provided for the occasion, and in all respects the evening was happily spent.

SHOT IN MISSOURI.

Many here still remember Mr. George W. Rich, who came here in 1874, and worked in the shoe factory for some time, and afterwards opened a meat market at the corner of Court and Main streets. He took to himself a wife while here, and after making this his home for three years, moved elsewhere. A report now reaches us that this same Rich was lately killed in Missouri, being shot in some altercation. The person who did the shooting has been arrested, and claims that he shot Rich in self defense.

HONORED ODD FELLOWS.

Janesville City Lodge No. 90, I. O. O. F., met Tuesday evening and elected the following officers:

N. G.—B. R. Hill.
V. G.—A. R. Wilkerson.
R. S.—E. F. Wiegitt.
T.—J. W. Hodgdon.
P. L.—A. Watson.
Trustee for three years, Dr. Loomis.

Wisconsin Lodge No. 14, at its semi-annual meeting Wednesday night elected the following officers:

N. G.—B. H. Baldwin.
V. G.—D. E. Puffer.
R. S.—G. R. Thompson.
P. S.—I. C. Brownell.
Treasurer—Volney Atwood.
Trustee for three years—S. B. Kenyon.

Mr. John B. Hyland, of Troy, N. Y., suffered with Rheumatism for two months so badly that he could hardly raise his arms or legs. Tried a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil, and relief was immediate.

RENTING THE JEFFERIS HOUSE.

Arrangements have been made by which Mr. David Jeffris is to lease his new hotel to Mr. Salsman, of Waukegan, who is to take possession on the first of January.

The hotel is an attractive, commodious one, and under the landlordship of Mr. Salsman will doubtless become a favorite resort for the traveling public. He has won a large acquaintance by his long connection with the firm of Smith, Roudy & Co., of Milwaukee, for whom he traveled, and he has had also the necessary experience in the practical management of a hotel, and is widely known as the landlord of the Mansion house, and later of the Park hotel at Waukegan. With many friends and his experience, the public may rest assured that the hotel has fallen into good hands.

WENT THROUGH HIS POCKETS.

Last evening there was another little stir in Scheritz's saloon. Some trouble arose about paying for drinks, and there was a little beer glass smashing. Scheritz says that he got "hit mit the nose with a beer glass and got all blooded." Order was finally restored without any great shedding of gore or heavy damage.

Just before the row, some one went through the pockets of a coat, which lay on one of the tables, and which belonged to Robert Synott. There was taken from one of the pockets a $50 promissory note and some other papers, of no value save to the rightful owner. Scheritz's boy, who was standing behind the bar, claimed that a young man named David Patterson did the stealing and that he saw him do it. A warrant has been issued for his arrest, and the inwardness of the affair will then be brought out in full.

Among the Useful Toilet Articles.

We notice a much liked preparation for the hair, possessed of properties so remarkable that no one who cares to own a clean and healthy scalp with beautiful hair should pass it untried. Its properties are cleansing, invigorating and healing, and after a few applications the hair ceases to fall. Dandruff and Humors disappear, and the hair grows clean, soft and silky. It keeps the head cool and comfortable and gradually restores the hair, if gray or faded, to the natural and life-like color, beautiful to look upon. It is Parker's Hair Balsam that has won such popular appreciation by its many excellent and healthful properties. Sold in large bottles at only 50 cents, and $1.00, by all first class druggists.

CITY NOTICES.

—Goods kept pouring in at Sutherland's. Persons wanting anything rich and rare, or beautiful and useful, will find it among his mammoth stock of Holiday Goods.

It is said that some of the alkalooids which enter into the combination of Fellows' Hypophosphites, are extracted from trees which attain to a great age, and that this fact suggested to Mr. Fellows the idea of their employment. Whether the success of the preparation is due to this, we are not prepared to say, but the idea is a good one.

The attention of pupils is called to the Friday night class drill in Elionation, at Mrs. Noon's rooms. Five cents admission to these classes will be charged, and no spectators allowed.

From a Well-known Druggist.

West Stockbridge, Mass., Oct. 9, 1873.

Dear Sir:—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 2nd inst., in relation to the matter of the sale of the property of the late Dr. Richardson, of Essex Co., N. Y., to try the PERUVIAN SYRUP, which she did, and desired so much benefit from it that she kept on with it, and in a short time was as well as ever. I have kept the Syrup for sale since I commenced business, and have had more confidence in recommending it (knowing what it has done in my family), than any other preparation on my shelves. Hoping it may always be found in the market, I am your obedient servant.
